The Master of Arts program in history of ers advanced study to qualified students in American, European, and global history. The course of study emphasizes the development of a coherent view of the past, the effective communication of ideas, and familiarity with a variety of historical schools of interpretation.
The department has three of erings leading to the Master of Arts degree. The thesis track concentrat on is a general program of advanced study that requires a thesis; the two non-thesis tracks replace the thesis with addit onal training in the major/minor areas. The department's principal graduate course of erings are in American and modern European history, complemented by course of erings in global history.
The history department awards a limited number of assistantships each academic year. Applicat ons for assistantships should be made directly to the history graduate coordinator. Applicat ons are due by April 1 for the forthcoming academic year. Admission applicat ons for the upcoming fall term should be received by June 1 of the same calendar year, and mid-academic year admissions should be received by October 15 for the following calendar year. The Department of History does not review any graduate applicat ons unt I all materials—the graduate applicat on, Graduate Record Examinat on (GRE) scores, let ers of recommendat on, writing sample, and of cial transcript—have been received by the graduate coordinator. The department reserves the right to review transfer credit viability.
